the future of our state. (From her website: Home | Angelia Orr)

Orr during the regular Legislative session in April voted in opposition to the proposal for education savings accounts, otherwise known as private school vouchers. She then joined voucher supporters in voting to keep the proposal in a bill under consideration during the most recent special session last month, called by Gov. Greg Abbott in an attempt to get vouchers passed.

She was one of just four Republicans who switched from voucher Tribune. ... Orr said last week she changed her stance on the proposal because new guidelines were added that were not included in earlier stages. The plan remains a priority for Abbott. (From School vouchers spur challenger's run in House District 13
