What are they saying/doing regarding funding?	If elected, Hunter said he would push for more funding for public schools, especially rural school districts... What are they saying/doing regarding vouchers?	Hunter said he believes private school vouchers would negatively impact rural school districts by incentivizing students to leave public schools for private schools, which would take funding away from public schools. Texas schools receive funding from the state based on average daily attendance, about $6,160 per student, which is especially crucial to rural districts that might not have many students. She then joined voucher supporters in voting to keep the proposal in a bill under consideration during the most recent special session last month, called by Gov. Greg Abbott in an attempt to get vouchers passed. She was one of just four Republicans who switched from voucher opposition in April to support in November, according to The Texas Tribune . ... Orr said last week she changed her stance on the proposal because new guidelines were added that were not included in earlier stages. The plan remains a priority for Abbott. 		Orr is endorsed by Greg Abbott. She will probably vote YES on vouchers
Do they focus on real concerns or scare tactics?	(No Examples)	Radical leftist ideologies seeking to indoctrinate our children serve no function other than to distract and confuse our kids when they should be learning. Angelia will keep these radical policies out of schools so our teachers can focus on doing what they do best, preparing our kids for success. (From her website: Home   Angelia Orr )
